

OTL tales under the full moon

6.30pm on Friday August 12, Central Australian Aviation Museum

On 5 October, 1921, a de Havilland-4 was the first aircraft to ever set down in Central Australia. The intrepid adventurers, Briggs, Birtles and Bailey, followed the Overland Telegraph Line to their ultimate destination, Alice Springs. Overcoming challenges, and picking up a love letter along the way, they then had to wait for the camel train to bring fuel for their return journey.

You couldn't write a better script! Hear the full story at the Central Australian Aviation Museum as the full moon rises. Cuppa & cake. Just turn up.

Central Australian Aviation Museum, 6 Memorial Avenue. Parking on site.